PART A: Sanjiao's Mystique Demystified – Parts 1 and 2

Presented by Louis GORDON

In commentaries on Difficult Issue 31 of Nan Ching, Yeh Lin states, 'The Triple Burner is the official responsible for the maintenance of the ditches. The water-ways originate from there..... [The Triple Burner] is a fatty membrane..... When fire meets water, a transformation into influences takes place'. Yeh Lin confirms the biochemical and biological influences of the body originate from drinks (bulk water) thanks to hydroelectric reactions occurring due to the hydrophilic fatty membranes of the Triple Burner, summarized by 'when fire meets water, a transformation into influences takes place'.

Louis Gordon proposes he has solved a 3,000 year old enigma about San Jiao, which is bathed in mystery and misunderstanding because it was stated that the Sanjiao has 'no form'. The endocrine and lymphatic systems also have 'no form'. Yet nobody doubts their existence. Gordon proposes the Sanjiao Organ exists as a stand-alone organ embodied in the Connective-Tissue Metasystem. Gordon proves that while the Sanjiao has 'no form' it absolutely exists, and is actually the original organ formed during embryogenesis, hence it's called 'Origin' and controls Original Qi (Yuan Qi).

Gordon believes Nan Ching teaches the water-controlling San Jiao is the omnipresent formless hydrophilic (water loving) membranes and connective tissue infrastructure that reacts vigorously with the omnipresent water that pervades the body to produce the highly energized by-product, which Professor Pollack calls Exclusion Zone water (EZ). The EZ creates San Jiao's homeostatic "qihua condition" responsible for driving pumps, catalysing biological reactions, and performing Sanjiao's multitudinous functions that engender 'life'.

PART B: Six Divisions - The Fundamental Dynamics of Our Medicine

Presented by Damian CAREY

The Six Divisions framework is fundamental to the dynamics of the human body in health and in disease. It provides us with a complete description of a set of interrelated functional departments in an integrated whole.

There is nothing that happens in the human body that cannot be described by the Six Divisions.

Often considered only as a useful perspective for herbal medicine, the utility of the Six Divisions for acupuncture practice is widely overlooked in CM education. This seminar will give the practitioner practical skills for prioritising diagnostic processes and treatment strategies.

Participants will gain a far deeper perspective on the Six Divisions and its clinical application. They will also learn practical pulse diagnosis skills which can be immediately applied to their clinical practice.

A thorough, forty eight slide Power Point presentation will be used to unfold the pertinent information in a visually clear and informative manner. Examples from my own clinical practice will be given. Participants will participate by reading each other's pulses.

About the presenter/s

Dr Louis Gordon graduated with a Bachelor degree from the Brisbane College of Traditional Acupuncture as a Chinese Medicine Practitioner (Acupuncturist) in 1981. Louis has worked in Scientific Laboratories for 35 years, and is intrigued by the San Jiao's mystique. Louis runs a very successful practice in Toowoomba, QLD, and has a special interest in treating foot problems, women's health concerns, quitting smoking and musculoskeletal injuries. He has published a 766 page book titled "The 'Mystical' TCM Triple Energizer. Its Elusive Location and Morphology Defined".

Damian Carey has been a practitioner for over thirty five years, both in Adelaide and in Canberra. He has a Master of Acupuncture degree from the University of Western Sydney and a Diploma in Canonical Chinese Medicine. He is also a lecturer and clinic supervisor at Endeavour College Adelaide. Damian practices in Adelaide city as well as from his home on the south coast.
