

SA State Committee Event | 5 May 2019

Part A: The Hidden Culprit (Discovering a common cause of low back pain, often hidden from sight)

Presented by Greg DePamphilis

Low Back Pain is a well discussed topic. This presentation highlights the causative factors of particular muscles that are involved in referring pain to the low back and which meridians are associated with these muscle groups.

Upon successful completion of this seminar participants will learn how to evaluate and recognise this referred pain scenario.

The PowerPoint presentation consists of 46 slides of which 24 are graphics showing anatomical features of muscle structures and related acupuncture meridians. The other 22 slides of lecture bullet point notes are pertaining to the related material. The seminar also includes a short demonstration of a physical differential diagnosis from the chiropractic perspective and shows how an acupuncturist can use anatomical palpation to assist in this particular diagnostic decision making.

Part B: Hegu (LI 4) clinic indication

Presented by Zhiqi Yue

Hegu is the yuan-source acupuncture of the large intestine, which is widely used in treating the headache, toothache, abdominal pain, no sweating, profuse sweating, paralysis, induction of labour and so on. We will discuss these problems further in the seminar to understand Hegu' application.

This seminar is aiming to help participants improve Hegu's manipulations, clarify the scope of application and the cautions to understand different combination of acupoints for the treatment of different diseases.
